Admission Scholarships 2024 Entry For International Undergraduate Students from ASEAN countries*

School Nomination Scheme (By Invitation)

About CUHK

The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) is a comprehensive research university that offers a wide range and flexible choices of undergraduate programmes taught in English. Against the backdrop of Hong Kong as a gateway to the rest of China and Asia, CUHK has built a strong network with universities, research institutes, commercial and innovative technology establishments in the Mainland of China and the region. These collaborations and partnerships provide our students with abundant internship, exchange and employment opportunities to broaden their horizons and advance their academic and career development.

Purpose of the Scholarship

A number of scholarships (up to FULL scholarships, covering 4 years of full tuition and living allowance) have been allocated to the 2024/25 cohort to give recognition to international students from ASEAN countries who possess excellent academic merits and non-academic achievements, and who are nominated by their school principals/ counsellors.

Value of the Scholarship

The Scholarship award will cover partial or full tuition fee, and/ or living allowance.

The value of the scholarship varies and may be up to a FULL scholarship of HKD 760,000 (~USD 98,000) for 4 years of undergraduate studies.

[Exchange rate approx. USD 1= ~HKD 7.75]

Eligibility

Candidates should be international students from ASEAN countries with excellent academic achievements (generally ranked top 10% in the graduating class), and/ or non-academic achievements.

The scholarship will be awarded on a competitive basis to candidates who have demonstrated academic and/ or non-academic excellence, leadership skills, and the potential to make substantial contributions to the international community. Tenure of the award is subject to the shortlisted applicant being admitted to the University for 2024 entry.

Nomination from School

Each school invited may nominate up to three students for consideration of the scholarships.
